

Date: 4/6/2015 5:10:25 PM

Subject: Postcard F/U. Uh, Follow-Up.

---

Back when Fite Ranch was a mining town, the Superintendent had a huge house with a tennis court and this is all that is left of it. The miners burned it down with the Super and his family still inside.

Oh, I made up that last part.

The miners ate junk out of tin cans and thoughtlessly neglected to recycle them. All of that is true.

Consider yourselves gotten back to.

D&S