Today we went to Lees Ferry on the Colorado River.

Caught the early morning sun on a Datura bloom.

The Colorado was so still and slow it pulled reflected colors from its bank.

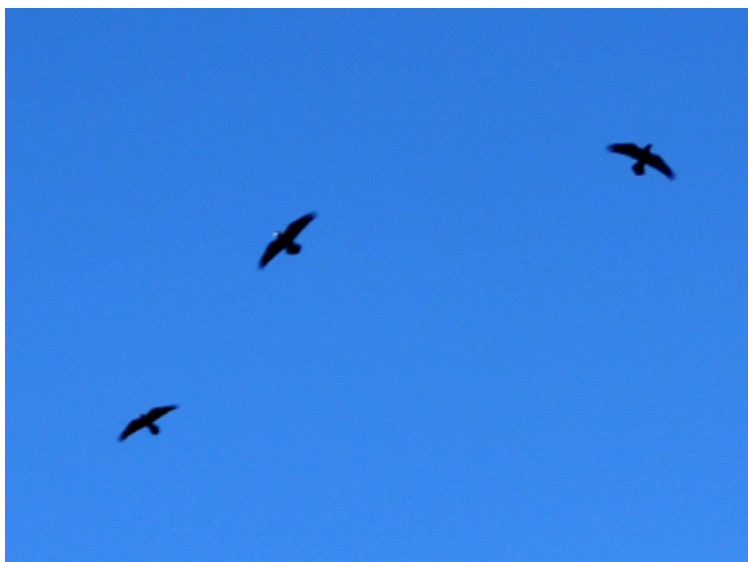

We left.

Today we went to the North Rim of the Grand Canyon.

Fall color had faded from most of the aspens, but the Gambel oak was a flashy gold.

Ravens frolicked over Grand Canyon Lodge.

We left.

---

Today we went here.

Nope, not West Monroe, Louisiana.

And we're still here.
